Urged By Ike To Think About Possibility

Scranton Says He Isn't In Presidential Race, But...

HARRISBURG Pa. (AP)—An intriguing mystery story—call it "Spotlight on the Sphinx"—is taking shape around William Warren Scranton the personable young governor of Pennsylvania.

"I don't want to be president of the United States," he said firmly in an interview. "I can't conceive of any circumstances in which I would run" he added in one of the strongest disclaimers of interest in the Republican nomination for presidency, Scranton said former president Dwight D. Eisenhower has urged him to give "deeper thought" to the question of being a candidate.

"I agreed that I would," Scranton said, "although I pointed out to him that I doubted this would change my opinion."

"The meeting with Eisenhower—which included Mrs. Eisenhower and Mrs. Scranton—took place in Eisenhower's private railway car Dec. 14 on a siding near Harrisburg. Scranton gave this version of Eisenhower's statements:

"He said the national scene now was such that he felt a number of persons thought I should be the candidate and that he thought I ought to give a good deal of thought to this matter and think deeply on the subject in view of the change in current circumstances nationally."

"He said some very complimentary things about me personally and my work here in the state. He was very kind about this and suggested that I give deeper thought to it than he believed I had in the past."

"He was quite right in this. I am not a candidate and don't wish to be. I haven't given deep thought to the possibility."

But now Scranton says he will think about it. Newsmen asked Scranton if he considers himself qualified to be president. He replied:

"Is anybody fully qualified to do every phase of that job? I don't suppose so. Do I think I could do the job if I had it? Yes, I do."

They also asked Scranton about reports that Eisenhower is advocating that Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to South Viet Nam, make himself available as a candidate for the nomination.

The governor said he and Eisenhower discussed this briefly and added:

"As I understand it, he (Eisenhower) denies he saw Henry Cabot Lodge and that he telephoned him or anything else and he didn't indicate there was anything else to it."

So is Scranton in the ring or isn't he? Some observers close to the Harrisburg scene believe he is merely taking the traditional "not me" posture at this stage of the proceedings. Others believe Scranton hasn't made a decision.

But one thing is certain: With the death of President Kennedy, the Republican outlook for 1964 changed sharply. One change has been to focus a spotlight on Scranton. His discussion with Eisenhower intensifies the glare. The governor is much more in the picture today than he was a month ago.

If the late John F. Kennedy established a new image of the modern politician, Scranton fits nearly into it.

He is 46, tall, slim, young looking, with dark hair and bright brown eyes. He has a big grin, a puckish sense of humor, and an easy, informal charm. Like the late President, he gives the impression of a cool man, possessed of marble calm.

He is Yale '39 and a graduate of Yale Law School. His associates call him "a learner," who soaks up facts in a hurry and retains them.

He married a childhood sweetheart, the former Mary L. Chamberlin. She has been a formidable campaigner. Their children are Susan, 17, (born Christmas day), William, 16, John, 13, and Peter, 9.

The Scranton family has been wealthy for generations.

As a businessman, he has had experience in banks, railroad, a textbook publishing firm, radio and television stations. He established a record for community service with "Operation Bootstrap," a plan he formulated to help depressed areas of Pennsylvania.

In asserting that he doesn't want the presidency, Scranton says:

"This is a big job in Pennsylvania. I feel there is a need for leadership and I hope I'm giving it.

"I didn't want to make a career of this business (politics). I never have had a messianic feeling about it."

"I have been close enough to the White House to see what a tremendous awesome job it is." (As a special assistant to former Secretary of State Christian Herter in 1959, Scranton attended White House conferences.)

"Being in the White House is tough on families. My children are in their formative years. They are beyond the very young

7 Persons Injured In Area Mishaps, 5 Drivers Cited

Seven persons, including two from the district, three from Pennsylvania and two from Georgia, were injured in three of eight traffic mishaps investigated over the weekend or today by the Lisbon and Confield barracks of the State Highway Patrol. Two victims are critical.

Five persons were cited, including two scheduled to appear in Juvenile Court.

A Hanoverton area youth was hurt along with three others from Pennsylvania when two cars collided Saturday at 1:10 p.m. on Route 30, about six miles west of Route 172. Taken to Salem Central Clinic after the mishap were:

Charles B. Burton, 21, of RD 1, Hanoverton, lacerations of the right eye and right cheek, dislocated collarbone and possible head injuries.

Mrs. Agnes Herniak, 40, of Pittsburgh, possible concussion and abrasions on the forehead.

Stephen Herniak, 16, also of Pittsburgh, lacerations of the face and abrasions of both legs.

Thomas McKenzie, 14, of Donora, Pa., a passenger in the Herniak car, lacerations of the lower lip.

Burton and Stephen Herniak are in critical condition while Mrs. Herniak is listed in fairly good condition. McKenzie was treated and released.

The Herniahs and the McKenzie youth were riding in a car driven east by John N. Herniak, 44, also of Pittsburgh, when Burton, traveling west, made a left turn in front of the Pittsburgh auto, the Patrol said. The mishap is still under investigation.

Auto Strikes Tree

A Pine Mountain, Ga., couple was hurt but their two young children escaped injury when their Volkswagen, driven by the father, ran off the right side of Route 62, about four miles west of Salem, and struck a tree today at 12:50 a.m.

Benjamin H. Pace, 47, had lacerations of the forehead and his wife, Florence, 39, suffered contusions of the forehead and a bruised chest. They were treated at Salem City Hospital. Unharmed were the Pace's children, Linda, 10, and Benjamin E. Pace, 2.

The Patrol said Pace, traveling toward Salem, apparently fell asleep at the wheel. He was not cited.

Girl Is Injured

Karen Snyder, 21, of RD 1, Berlin Center suffered lip and chin cuts and possible dental damage Saturday at 3 p.m. when a youth's car pulled into her path in Boardman.

The Canfield Patrol said Miss Snyder was driving south on Market St. Ext. when Charles Miller, 16, of Youngstown pulled his auto from Rockdale Ave., causing the woman's car to strike his left front. Miller was cited to Juvenile Court for failure to yield "the right of way."

Collide at Crossing

A Leetonia area youth was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance after his auto struck the rear of another car Saturday morning at 10:45 on Route 45, just south of Salem. Clyde R. McVane, 27, of Barborton was stopped for the flashers at the Pennsylvania Railroad crossing when he was Christmas 1963 will be a day of sadness for the families of some 23 Ohioans who lost their lives in accidents in the Buckeye State during the pre-holiday weekend.

At least 18 persons died in accidents on the state's slippery highways. Another four were victims of miscellaneous mishaps.

The traffic toll was heavier than average for recent weekends, and the sharp increase was attributed, primarily, to icy, and snow-covered roads in some sections of the state.

State officials said many of the traffic accidents during this period were the result of holiday parties. In warning motorists of the dangers of mixing alcohol and driving, Ohio Highway Safety Director Warren C. Nelson urged businesses and industry to dry up holiday parties.

All but two of the weekend's traffic fatalities occurred in separate accidents. Eight died in one-car mishaps.

Included among the deaths in miscellaneous mishaps were two men killed in the crash of a private plane near New Carlisle in Clark County. The Piper Jet's

E. Liverpool Man Hit By Auto, Dies

EAST LIVERPOOL — A 60-year-old pottery worker was killed this morning when struck by another pottery worker's car as he crossed Pennsylvania Ave. near his home to another auto waiting to take him to work.

Charles W. Whitney, 1362 Pennsylvania Ave., an employee of the Homer Laughlin China Co., was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital from head injuries suffered in the first fatal crash in the city since September, 1962.

Whitney suffered skull and brain damage and a laceration of the back of the head.

Police identified the driver of the westbound auto that struck Whitney as Richard S. Chapman, 23, of 894 Valley Ave., also a Laughlin employee, enroute to work.

Dr. William S. Koloszi, county coroner, was called to investigate but delayed issuing a ruling until he received a copy of the police report of the accident.

New Snowfall Hits District; Roads Slick

Salem residents don't need to dream of a white Christmas this year. It's practically assured.

A new snowfall this morning put a new coating of white on the previously fallen flakes and streets and highways were reported extremely hazardous.

Salt and cinder crews were out on county, state and city thoroughfares as the weatherman predicted a snow accumulation by tonight of five inches.

It was snowing throughout much of Ohio and even the southern states had snow.

Snow and sleet paralyzed much of the South today, closing airports and some highways and stranding motorists as an icy blast dropped temperatures to the freezing mark as far south as Florida.

Many areas expected their first white Christmas in years.

Arkansas and Tennessee reported heavy snowfalls.

Tennessee was covered by snow which spread eastward from Memphis. Roads were closed in an 80-mile radius of Memphis and air traffic was halted.

Memphis police said traffic was tangled mostly by motorists who ventured out without chains.

A taxi service was set up by police to carry doctors and oth-

1,016 Leave Ship Burning In Atlantic

LONDON (AP)—A raging fire forced 1,016 persons to abandon the Christmas cruise ship Lakonia in the Atlantic today. A massive air-sea rescue operation plucked hundreds from the ocean and more were being saved hourly. A U.S. Air Force report said about 100 persons were floating in the water and all appeared dead.

Aboard the 20,314-ton Greek liner when disaster struck Sunday night were 651 passengers on a holiday, mostly British but including four Americans, and a crew of 365. Reports of the total rescued ranged from 470 to more than 800 but there was a possibility of some duplication.

All but the stern of the ship was ablaze and explosions rocked her 608-foot length when rescue vessels arrived on the scene about 180 miles northwest of Casablanca. The water was dotted with lifeboats and swimmers.

Great clouds of smoke rolled up from the red-hot hulk. People wild with joy waved from lifeboats as rescuers approached. Others struggled to swim as far away from the Lakonia as they could. The water temperature was 64 degrees, warm enough to give those in the sea a chance to survive.

Officials of the line believed two babies and 30 to 34 children under 12 were aboard. Some accounts told of mothers tossing children into lifeboats and of parents struggling in the water to keep their children afloat.

U.S. and British military planes criss-crossed the area, spotting swimmers and lifeboats and directing rescue boats.

A U.S. Air Force air rescue report received in Orlando, Fla., said a C54 flying over the area from the Azores told of the casualties. It said "the 100 were wearing life jackets but all appeared to be dead."

Radio messages told of the dramatic rescue. The master of the British Tanker Montcalm, Capt. E. J. Kempton, an Englishman, reported:

"There are a lot of people in the water around the burning vessel. We are picking up as many as possible."

"The vessel was on fire everywhere except for the aft portion," said a radio message from one of three planes from the U.S. 57th Air Rescue Squadron based in the Azores.

"Survivors are in lifeboats and life rafts which have been dropped by U.S. Air Force aircraft. Four vessels are in the area and are picking up survivors. About 60 per cent have been picked up so far."

"However, there are many survivors still in the water. The weather in the area is reported good."

Other accounts told of hundreds hauled from lifeboats and from the sea onto the decks of ships.

The line's spokesman in London said it appeared about 470 persons had been rescued thus far. At that time, radio messages from the scene indicated the total saved was considerably higher.

The British liner Stratheden radioed she had picked up 300

Vopos Fire At Man Fleeing From East Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—East German guards fired on a man attempting to flee from East Berlin today as other smiling Red guards were admitting West Berliners through the Berlin wall to visit relatives in the Communist sector.

The Communist guards fired 10 bursts from submachine guns at a man apparently trying to struggle through the barbed wire on the southern outskirts of West Berlin.

West Berlin police said they could not see the victim because of poor early morning light and heavy fog. But they heard the guards shout "Halt! Halt!" This was followed by a screams of a man.

At the wall in the heart of the city the flow of West Berliners dropped sharply today after a weekend rush. Most people apparently were saving their precious passes to visit relatives in East Berlin during the holidays.

Only about 1,300 had passed through the Communist control points two hours after they opened. More than 12,000 went through the wall during the same period Sunday.

But at the 12 permit offices in West Berlin, about 13,000 persons queued up in freezing weather to apply for permits.

West Berlin authorities said most of the passes issued were for the Christmas holidays and New Year's Eve.

The official East German news agency ADN reported that 31,000 West Berliners crossed into the Communist zone over the weekend, bringing to 34,000 the num-

The Trees of Christmas

As is fitting at this time of year, the varieties of evergreen trees that adorn millions of homes across the nation are in the news. Seven of them are pictured below. Although all are beautiful and have their adherents, some are preferred above others.

Most popular of all is the shapely Douglas fir, grown in the Western half of the United States. Runner-up to it nationally and most popular in the East is the balsam fir. Closely related to the balsam is the Fraser fir. The Black spruce is most frequently seen in Great Lakes area and in the Northeast. Growing in popularity, however, are the fragrant Eastern red cedar and such long-needed trees as the Scotch pine, an immigrant to this country, and the red pine.

Cincinnati U. Gets Fossil Collection

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Kopf fossil collection, containing rare specimens believed to be 400 million years old, has been acquired by the University of Cincinnati for its paleontology museum.

Dr. Kenneth E. Caster, museum curator, said all of the fossils have not yet been identified and it will take four persons several years to complete the cataloging.

The fossils come from the Buffalo, N.Y., area, Niagara Falls and Ontario, Canada. Much of the new material comes from rocks of about the same age as the rocks of the Cincinnati hills, about 400 million years old, Caster said.

The collection was gathered over 30 years by the Max Kopf family of Buffalo, N.Y. Caster praised the family for its great care in preserving all data with their materials.

Horace Dodge Jr. Dies At Age 63 Of Heart Ailment

DETROIT (AP) — The playboy heir to a multi-million-dollar Dodge Brothers auto fortune — Horace E. Dodge Jr. — died Sunday night. He was 63.

The one-time sportsman and boat racing enthusiast died of a reported heart ailment at Jennings Hospital in Detroit. He was said to have entered the hospital earlier for a checkup on his failing health.

Dodge Jr. was heir to an estate of $57 million that has been administered by his mother Mrs. Horace Elgin Dodge Sr. 93. Mrs. Dodge Sr. inherited her husband's portion of more than $146 million for the sale of the Dodge Brothers (Motor Car) Co. in 1924 to a firm which sold it to the Chrysler Corp.

The son had been living in a 20-room mansion in fashionable Grosse Pointe Farms next door to his mother's 127-room mansion.

Survivors beside his mother include his estranged fifth wife former showgirl Gregg Sherwood.

The Dodge Brothers Co. was founded in 1914 by his father and uncle John Francis Dodge. The brothers had amassed an early bulk of their fortune with an interest in Henry Ford's auto making concern for which they built engines. They sold their portion to Ford for $70 million and then built the independent Dodge Brothers empire. Both brothers died in 1920.

It is easier to make holiday toll calls if you know the telephone number of the party you wish to call.

If you are served from a D.D.D. office you can then make the call yourself without waiting for an operator to answer your dialed signal.

In those offices not equipped for D.D.D. calling, the call can go through much faster if you call by telephone number.

Do you know — that telephone calls are much cheaper if you make them on a station-to-station basis and make them after 9:00 P.M.?

Dial your own holiday calls — if you have D.D.D. service from your exchange. Make operator-handled calls on a station-to-station basis by supplying the number you wish to call to your operator when you file the call. Secure the number in advance, if you do not already know it.

4 Die As Brothers Attempt To Rob Catholic Rectory

OTTAWA (AP)—Four persons were shot to death Sunday when two armed brothers apparently tried to steal the collection boxes from a Roman Catholic rectory in Ottawa while Mass was being celebrated in the church next door. A fifth person was wounded slightly.

Police said Roger Binette, 21, shot and killed himself after police and parishioners cornered him and his brother Reginald 17, in an upper floor of the rectory.

A detective persuaded Reginald to surrender after parishioners surrounded the building. Reginald was charged with capital murder and if convicted will get a life prison sentence. Minors cannot be charged for capital murder in Canada.

The youths' parents Mr. and Mrs. Leo Binette were attending noon Mass in the Church of Christ the King. The father rushed with other men in the congregation to the rectory and ducked back as bullets flew. He did not know who was inside.

The shooting also took the lives of Paul Mercier of Sherbrooke, Que., scoutmaster of the Parish's Boy Scout troop; Albert Guindon about 45 housekeeper and niece of the parish priest, the Rev. Guillaume Chevrier; and Doralise Bechar, 65, who shared a second-floor apartment in the rectory with her sister.

Police said they did not fire a shot. They said the brothers

Father Chevrier, who was at the front of the church while the Rev. Gerard Therrien was saying Mass ran down the aisle followed by Mercier, John Horner, Roger LeCroix and others. LeCroix said later:

"I thought it might be a fire or something and I got out just behind the others. I just got to the rectory door when I heard the first shot—I guess that's the one that killed Mercier."

Lodge — Friends of Henry Cabot Lodge U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam are forming a national committee to boost him for the Republican presidential nomination.

Shriver — Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver said he has no plans to enter politics but indicated he could be persuaded if President Johnson is the persuader.

Goldwater — In Washington's Republican circles the feeling grew that Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona would signal his supporters to resume their efforts to boost him for the Republican presidential nomination.

Lisbon Lions Aid Needy Families

LISBON — Lions club members are to meet at 8 a. m. Tuesday at the Bennett building to distribute Christmas baskets to community families.

The Lions are sponsoring a Christmas basket clearing house so there will be no duplications. At last count, the Lions said there are over 50 families on the list and not enough money to provide for all of them.

In that connection, a group of David Anderson High School students will sing carols tonight throughout town. Donations will be turned over to the food basket fund.

The Lions will not have their regular Wednesday dinner meeting this week or next because of the holidays. The next meeting will be Wednesday, Jan. 8.

TWO CARS DAMAGED

Two Sunday hit-skip incidents resulting in minor property damage were reported to police headquarters over the weekend.

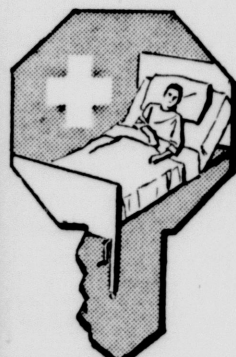

William H. Kyser of 369 E. 7th St. said he parked his car on Railroad St. Sunday at 10 p.m. and when he returned in about an hour, his grill, fender and door were dented in. In mid-afternoon Sunday a car owned by Wesley Todor of RD 1, Salem, was slightly damaged as it was parked at the rear of 373 N. Howard Ave.

ANSWER TWO ALARMS

Two fire scares within a space of 15 minutes were reported to the Salem fire department early Sunday morning. At 3 a.m. firemen went to 1891 E. 3rd St. where a furnace at the home of Robert Bingham was smoking. They stopped at a home at 861 Washington Ave. to investigate a fire scare at about 3:15 a.m. Neither incident caused damage.

The Gift That Is Always There

Salem has been a beehive of activity during recent weeks as its citizenry bustles and bustles about in preparation for the long-awaited Christmas hour.

Santa has been visiting the very young. School children have been trying to find ways to combine homework with frequent shopping trips. Parents have been bringing mysterious packages into the home and trying to find places to conceal them until the magic hour. Grandparents have been trodding from store to store to find the right doll for Susie or the fire engine that Billy would like.

Happy people of all ages have been attending gala festive events—specially prepared for the holiday season. The familiar ring of the Salvation Army bell has resounded from downtown street corners.

Shoppers have rushed into stores, frantically searching for correct sizes or colors. Friends and relatives have formed an almost steady line into the Post Office, sending packages and cards near and far.

Neighbors who haven't seen each other for the past year stop to chat or call out "Merry Christmas!"

Holiday gaiety and festivity have been in full reign.

But soon—in just a few hours—the furious pace will cease and Salemites will travel, in reverent mood, to worship places of their choice to mark the real reason for the excitement.

City and district churches will be brimming with congregations eager to re-hear the so-familiar Scriptures telling of Christ's birth and all the wondrous events surrounding it. Choirs will joyously proclaim the great news in Christmas Eve services.

Carols will ring out in the stillness of the cold night as voices are joyously raised in well-known melody and verse. Soon, people will emerge—from the churches—some with lighted candles—to carry away with them an unexplainable deep-rooted truth which they rediscover just once a year.

They will return to their homes—some to continue in the festive tradition of unwrapping the brightly-colored packages placed under the Christmas tree and some to enjoy fellowship with loved ones.

But they will all share one gift—the most precious gift ever received by humans—and the knowledge that indeed, once again, "Christ, the Savior, is born."

Like Civilized Men

The recent resignation under Arab pressure of Lord Mancroft, member of a prominent East Anglican Jewish family from a directorship of the Norwich Union Insurance Co. in Britain has stirred a storm.

Subsequently, Lord Mancroft was restored to his position, but the damage had been done.

As one newspaper stated it, the British government cannot allow the action to pass without protest. The Arab boycott against Israel is of long standing. Its aim is to destroy the Jewish homeland.

It has cost Israel's economic development millions of dollars. Not a ship trading with Israel has been allowed through Suez since 1947.

The Arab Boycott of Israel Committee has some 50 British companies on its blacklist for trading with Israel. A black-listed company is prohibited from trading with companies in the 13-nation Arab League.

Both the West German and Dutch governments have encouraged firms in their countries to disregard any boycott threats, and 25 African states maintain both diplomatic and economic relations with Israel. But Britain has Arab commitments that cloud its policy.

The Arabs insisted their objection to Lord Mancroft was not his race nor his religion, but his business relationships with Israel.

The Douglas-Home government will have to make a new policy statement. Indignation cuts across all political affiliations.

The empire-hawking Sunday Express of Lord Beaverbrook used only slightly warmer language than the rest of the press when it declared: "Concerted action must be taken by the West, and the first step must be to ensure that not one further penny goes in aid to any Arab state until Nasser and his bazaar allies learn to behave like civilized men."

36 Inches of Fun

By Truman Twill

This may be my winter to see a basketball game.

I skipped basketball last winter. I needed time to cool off from the winter before, when I saw two games.

No one has adopted my revolutionary idea for handicapping basketball teams.

I have the answer to making basketball a game again, instead of an exhibition of five emaciated specialists performing with a round ball and a hoop.

My revolutionary proposal has been around long enough for official adoption, yet no one has taken it seriously. Here it is:

THE BASIC unit of over-all height for a basketball team should be 360 inches, representing five players 6 ft. tall — five times 72 inches, 360 inches.

For every inch over 360, a team would be handicapped two points. A team with one 7-ft. player and four 6-footers would assume a 14-point handicap.

But to compensate for the penalty of excess height, rewards would be available for less than basic height. If a basketball team wanted to use a 7-ft. player without bearing a punishing handicap, it would take off the handicap with less than six-footers in the other positions. For each inch under the basic unit of 72 inches per player, or a total of 360 inches, a team would have two points added to its score.

This would put ordinary man back into basketball, while keeping tall men from being forced out of it. What it would do in the long run is to give basketball back to the people. Coaches would start looking for players among people they considered normal, instead of high-tailing it to the hinterlands to bird-dog prospects of abnormal height.

THE SAME principle would be applied on a poundage basis to give football back to ordinary men, using 170 pounds as a basic unit of weight.

What makes the idea appealing is the fact games used to be played on a first-come-most-willing basis. If a boy wanted to play and could learn the moves, he was not automatically barred or chosen because of height or weight.

Athletics was more fun that way than the new way. Athletes were identifiable with the people who watched them perform; the players were not supermen.

Some legendary figures in sport, like Jim Thorpe, wouldn't draw a second look today from coaches who screen out everybody resembling a normal specimen.

SURELY, abnormality isn't the idea of sports. Games were not intended to be exhibitions by squads of abnormal men. The idea was competition between groups of ordinary mortals.

This may not be my winter to see another basketball game after all. I may wait until they give the game back to young men on a first-come-most-willing basis.

Coaches will never do it until they have nothing to gain by concentrating on supernatural height in basketball and abnormal weight in football.

Ask Not for Whom the Bell Tolls

Down Pentagon Way

By DAVID LAWRENCE

For nuclear toys Bonn sighs?

Well, then, multilateralize. British and Germans, Turks and Yanks —

All with fingers in atomic pies.

Gee, lets multilateralize!

—From a Pentagon lavatory wall.

Incredible as it seems, there really is a word "multilateralize" in the strangest of foreign languages, Pentagonese. It seems to mean, when applied to nuclear weapons, a system in which control and operation are shared by a number of allies.

The United States wants NATO to build a multilateral nuclear force, a fleet in which each missile-bearing ship would be manned by crews drawn from at least three countries.

Germany likes this idea because treaties prevent Germany from owning her own nuclear weapons. It yearns for this status symbol.

The other NATO allies look on the scheme with varying degrees of trepidation and interest. The only exception is France, which scoffs at the whole idea.

The American proposal has given rise to others. The Dutch said the other day it would be nice if the Americans agreed to throw their newest and best missile, the Minuteman, into the common hopper.

Then the assembly of the Western European union said that all the West's nuclear arms — that is the U.S. nuclear army — should become mutual property.

ALL OF THIS sounds very democratic and upthunk, but the military leaders of all concerned countries treat it like a bad joke. And numerous jokes, good and bad, are being made about it.

If we're so anxious to integrate, some people are saying, why not start at home? Take the three armed services and the office of the secretary of defense, for instance. Frequently these four distinct entities appear to be working for different employers. Any day now we're going to see stories about the terrible things being perpetrated within the quartet as final budget decisions are made.

There is really very little hope for progress here. After all, the Pentagon can't even get a meeting of minds on a common belt buckle.

Another suggestion is to start at the bottom of the military pyramid instead at the top. For the next two years, say, the Turkish army should accept only English recruits, only Greeks could get into the American army and the Norwegians, of course, would have to go to Italy. It would all be very educational and kind of friendly.

A variation of this would be to allow soldiers to marry only girls of another nationality. The United States has the largest military establishment and therefore this country would get the largest influx of foreign girls.

The American women's lobby would scream objections. Let it. The operation would make American females less uppity.

OF COURSE, it would be a delicate and difficult job matching rates properly. At last there would be a humane, important mission for Secretary McNamara's legion of electronic computers.

Mr. McNamara loves to create new, joint agencies and it is very easy to picture him announcing establishment of OSP (Office of Spouse Procurement).

One the procedural matters shook down, everything would be fine. Every couple of years we would switch around the countries from which eligible mates could come. In a few generations everything, including the language and food problems, would be solved.

But the State Department wants to launch the MLF fleet soon. Plans are going ahead for an experiment in which a tri-national crew will try to keep some poor ship afloat.

If the Labor party wins the next election in Great Britain, that country probably will pull out.

The French remain aloof; their only contribution will be Italy has a new and wobbly champagne — if we pay for it — with which to christen the 25 or so new vessels.

The Belgians, the Turks and the Greeks seem to be fascinated by the idea, ignorant of the problems and leery about the costs.

This leaves Germany, which is not supposed to have nuclear weapons, and the United States, which is supposed to be against the spread of nuclear weapons.

Those who understand what this is all about please say "multilateralization." Speak up, we can't hear you.

Defense Barrel

By RAYMOND MOLEY

There appears over a tiny grave, it has been said, a stone with this inscription: "Little David. Died at the age of 5 because of eating green apples. His parents in their grief have this consolation: They never denied him anything he wanted."

Perhaps when a monument is raised by the Soviet over a busted and ruined America, this inscription might be appropriate: "This nation, conceived in liberty, went broke because its people used their liberty to elect representatives and presidents who gave them whatever they asked."

I shall be more precise. That thrifty man who once was vice president, John N. Garner told me one time: "We can have a non-political president, but we can never have a nonpolitical Congress."

Those observations came to mind as I noted the shrieks and wails of the two nominally Republican senators, Kenneth Keating and Jacob Javits, along with several Democratic members of the House from New York when Defense Secretary McNamara, under orders from President Johnson, proposed to terminate several unnecessary installations in that state.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, elected because of his promise to "do more for Massachusetts," and Sen. Hugh Scott have protested the closing of Naval shipyards in Boston and Philadelphia.

Thus, in the line before the pie counter Republicans and Democrats are indistinguishable.

WE SHALL SEE whether President Johnson, eyeing the fat electoral votes in California, Massachusetts, and New York, will really carry through these economies.

It's one thing to preach economy. It's quite another to practice it. For already the administration has backed away from some proposals to cut defense costs.

This uproar raises a serious question. Are all the billions in the defense budget necessary to protect us against an enemy in war, or are many of them merely to make work?

Our system of government is so constituted that only a president who is willing to risk his reelection can appreciably cut federal expenses.

Congress won't do it because the people back home won't permit it.

Chambers of commerce all over the land love to listen to speakers talking about economy. But after the applause has subsided, resolutions are passed demanding that their senators and congressmen get money for their communities.

LET'S TAKE a look at one example, Naval shipyards.

The Defense Department was ready with plans to close the Navy's shipyards in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and San Francisco.

Top studies by reliable firms, one by Ernst and Ernst, and another by Arthur Anderson and Company, reported that the work done by Navy shipyards could be done at much less cost in private shipyards.

Some of these private yards have been losing money because when they are permitted to do government work, their profits are taxable and return money to the government.

These Navy yards, antique monuments to the past and at present evidences of political expediency, have not been made exempt from the so-called "economy drive" of the President.

The Navy complex, with an estimated net worth of $5 billion, consists of 11 yards.

ALL THESE are located on highly valuable land. None pays a dime to the communities in taxes.

Where Navy yards were closed, new private industries would buy and occupy these sites, with new jobs and tax returns to the public. And the Navy's work would be efficiently done.

The comptroller general of the United States issued report after report making recommendations which, if adopted, would save vast sums. Secretary McNamara has in his office equally worthy plans to economize. But politics has up to now frustrated these economies.

We cannot have an economy omelet without breaking some local political eggs. President Johnson is the new cook. Let us see if he has the courage to break the shells, before the 1964 election.

Views of Our Readers

Says Police Criticism Unjust

Why are there some people in every community who continually criticize their police department? These policemen are often the victims of much unjust criticism. It seems that no matter what the police department does, it is not right in the eyes of some critical citizens and is often used as a "political football" by some of our politicians.

Instead of criticizing, we should assist them in every way possible. Police are much the same as any other civic minded individual. They pride themselves in their work, but their effectiveness can be impaired if continually criticized. Let us show gratitude to these men in blue who risk their lives in order to make our community a better place in which to live. Many hazards encountered by the policemen and work done by them never makes newspaper headlines. The policemen are our first line of defense.

Today is Monday Dec. 23, the 357th day of 1963. There are 8 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1823, the Troy, N. Y., Sentinel first published Clement Moore's famous Christmas classic, "A Visit from St. Nicholas." The selection was published anonymously, without the author's knowledge.

On this date: In 1873, George Washington resigned his commission as commander-in-chief at the State House in Annapolis, Md., and retired to his home at Mount Vernon.

In 1921, President Warren Harding signed a bill to provide 20 million in famine relief for the Russians.

In 1948, former Japanese dictator Hideki Tojo and six of his collaborators were hanged for war crimes.

Ten years ago — Russian announced the firing squad executions of former security police chief Lavrenti Beria and six of his aides. Five years ago — Pope John XX — delivered his annual Christmas message in which he called on Christians to unite against the threat of communism.

One year ago — The first Cuban prisoners liberated from Fidel Castro's prisons in exchange for U.S. medical and food supplies reached Miami.

Christmas Feeling

By RON AUTRY

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Ever have a year when it just didn't seem like Christmas?

That's the way it was for our family this Christmas season at first.

Work and the routine of living had crowded in. Gift buying and card mailing were behind schedule.

Besides, Christmas requires children, and one fledgling had married during the year and the other was testing his wings in high school.

So we had that bah-humbug feeling about Christmas.

We heard the constant blare of loudspeakers with carols everywhere, and they spread more irritation than joy. They seemed to stand for form and not substance, anti-Christmas and not Christmas.

And we grew more disenchanted with the holiday.

Still, there were rituals that needed performing.

One was the purchase of a Christmas tree.

There are only two kinds of trees—the ones that turn brown and drop all their needles within two days after you buy them and the ones that inexplicably stay green for weeks.

And you spend hours prudently selecting one from a supermarket, a fly-by-night stand or a Boy Scout.

But as I prepared for the search, a friendly neighbor named Bill Terry invited me to go along with him. A friend had said we could cut a tree from his woods near Stone Mountain.

It was like being invited to a quilting or a husking bee. To me, those stories about people cutting a tree for themselves out in the woods had always seemed to be merely old wives' tales or a half-forgotten custom.

A cold wind was blowing when Terry and I arrived in the woods with his two sons, Tim and Mark.

We saw passively good trees immediately and wanted to cut. But Tim disappeared. We heard him in the distance.

"Come over this way!" he cried into the wind. "I've found a perfect one!"

By the time we arrived, he had moved on ahead, shouting that he had found an even prettier tree.

Then we followed Mark, who also had found a better tree.

And as we walked, the voices of those happy and searching children seemed to be symbols of the spirit of Christmas, hope-fully beckoning us through the cold winds of doubt and indifference.

We found our perfect trees, two shapely cedars.

Next day my family began to decorate the tree.

It was then that we realized what a truly remarkable tree we had. For we had not been the first to adopt the tree and take it into the family.

Deep inside the branches and clinging close to the trunk was a small and deserted bird's nest, unharmed by time and storms.

Perhaps it was the association with birth, or the association with flown fledglings, but somehow that tiny nest seemed appropriate and significant. We left it untouched.

And the feeling of Christmas crept into our home at last.

Hively-Scullion Vows Are Spoken In Leetonia

White poinsettias and fernery decorated the altar lighted with cathedral candles in branching candelabra for the evening wedding of Miss Nancy Jean Hively, daughter of Mrs. Annabelle Hively of 608 Columbia St., Leetonia, and Arland Hively, to Robert Lee Scullion, son of Mrs. Ruth Scullion of 235 Walnut St., Washingtonville, and the late R. L. Scullion.

The couple were married at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church at Leetonia by the Rev. Albert Oakes. Miss DeErla Smith was soloist and Mrs. Merle Davis presided at the organ.

Escorted down the aisle by her uncle, James Murphy, the bride wore a silk taffeta and Chantilly lace dress fashioned with Sabrina neckline and long sleeves on the molded bodice. Four tiers of lace ruffles graced the floor length skirt which swept to a chapel-length train. She was given in marriage by her mother.

A crown of crystals and pearls held her bouffant veil of silk illusion and she carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations and holly.

Miss Ailene Hively served her sister as maid of honor. Attendants were Miss Judith Bauman and Mrs. Ronald Sticker. All wore bell skirted dresses of flame red velvet with long sleeves complemented with white fur hats and muffs topped with corsages of red carnations and holly.

When you are roasting chestnuts in the oven, put them in a shallow pan and add a teaspoon of salad oil for each cup of nuts.

Wearing a gown like that of the other attendants, Sue Ann Hively, sister of the bride, was flower girl and carried a basket of red carnations.

Mr. Scullion chose Gary Gotthardt as his best man. Ushering were Gerald Van Fossan and James Warner, uncle of the bridegroom.

Mothers of the bridal couple were attired in winter white wool dresses with contrasting corsages.

Miss Mary Ann Murphy, cousin of the bride, registered the 200 guests who attended the reception in the church social room following the ceremony.

Red carnations, holly and gold Christmas ornaments clustered around the base of the four-tier cake trimmed with red roses, which was the focal point of the bride's table.

A red and white knit suit and the corsage from her bridal bouquet was worn by the new Mrs. Scullion for her honeymoon trip to Arlington, Va., and Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will reside at 189 E. 3rd St.

The bridegroom's mother was hostess at the rehearsal party Thursday evening at her home.

A graduate of Leetonia High School, the bride attended Youngstown University and is employed as a secretary by the Mullins Co. Mr. Scullion, a draftsman for Bellows - Valvair, is also a graduate of Leetonia High School.

Mr Thomas Hartley

Virginia Hedl Married To Thomas J. Hartley

Robbins Memorial Methodist Church of Washingtonville was the setting Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Miss Virginia Ann Hedl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hedl of Market St., Lisbon, and Thomas James Hartley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hartley of Washingtonville.

The Rev. Albert Oas was the presiding clergyman for the double ring ceremony solemnized at 2:30 o'clock, before the altar, enhanced by white poinsettias and four branch candelabra. Leading to the foot of the altar on either side were clusters of red and white poinsettias.

As the couple knelt for holy communion, Miss De Eria Smith of Leetonia sang "The Lord's Prayer". Mrs. Merle Davis of Leetonia presided at the organ.

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. White silk faille fashioned the bride's gown, designed with a high neckline and long sleeves. The fitted bodice had a midriff inset yoke of Alencon lace. The bell shaped skirt, accented by a bow at the waist, fell into a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion was held by a bride's ring of Alencon lace. She carried a white Alpha Gamma Delta Bible, overlaid by a spray of white gardenias.

Miss Patricia Perry of Erlanger, Ky., was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Priscilla Olds of Columbus, Mrs. Dale Burlingame of Novato, Calif., both sorority sisters of the bride, and Miss Jean Hartley of Washingtonville, sister of the bridegroom.

All attendants were similarly attired in blue brocade gowns, designed with round necklines. Three-quarter length sleeves and A-shaped skirts. Their flowers were cascade bouquets of red carnations, and each wore the bride's gift, a single strand of pearls.

Walter Hartley of Washingtonville was best man for his brother. Ushers were Fredrick Less, John Fieldhouse and Larry Neme, all of Washingtonville.

The bride's mother was attired in a beige crepe, two-piece dress with black accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a blue print dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of red roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 200 guests was held in the church social room. The bride's table was overlaid with white linen and at each scalloped point of the lace net overskirt were placed the bouquets of the attendants. In the center was a three-tiered cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom and the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Victor Hedl Jr. of Washingtonville registered the guests from Novato, Calif., Erlanger, Ky., Chicago, Ill., Fort Wayne, Ind., and Ohio.

The bride is a graduate of Lisbon High School and Bowling Green State University and is a teacher of fourth grade in the Leetonia school system.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Leetonia High School, served two years in the Army and is employed by Panelmatic Inc. of Youngstown.

For the wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a pink wool two-piece dress, with black accessories. Upon their return, the newlyweds will reside at 185 Main St., Washingtonville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley, the bridegroom's parents, were hosts for the rehearsal party Friday evening at the church social room.

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: My 11-month-old daughter always knocked her food from the spoon at feeding time . . . but not any more since I found the answer.

I eliminated that trouble by giving her something to hold in each hand during the feeding process! For instance: spoons, large jar lids or anything which is harmless. By having each hand filled with something, this holds her attention.

I also give her dry cereal on her high chair tray. She absolutely loves to eat it with her fingers; she will not eat the cereal from a spoon. So? The cereal is at least eaten by hand-process and followed with her milk.

MRS. W. R.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint for a quick hairset which might help some mother who is rushed to keep an appointment and must look her best. Instead of dampening hair with water, dampen it with rubbing alcohol. This evaporates quickly and your hair dries in a short time.

READER.

DEAR FOLKS: I cannot knock this. I have held this letter for three months and have tried it. This is especially good for the back curls on your neck which get greasy and stringy from time to time.

I have also checked with one of the biggest companies of hair spray and it does contain alcohol! Naturally, if you are allergic to alcohol don't use this method. There are many in the world who are allergic to soap and they don't use soap, either. . .

I also found that by squirting alcohol on a washrag and rubbing this unruly curl that you remove some of the oil which has accumulated. Thus, making it more curl-a-ble.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I had a cotton lace tablecloth with old, old coffee and hot chocolate stains all over it.

I soaked it overnight in strong vinegar water and hung it in the sun. Then the next time I did my washing in the machine I put in the tablecloth and lo-and behold. . . no more stains!

MRS. FRANK WEBSTER.

Welcome Wagon Club's Holiday Event Enjoyable

Talks by two native Italian women highlighted the program when Salem Welcome Wagon Club held its annual Christmas dinner and party Wednesday at the YWCA.

The women, Mrs. Archie Citino and Mrs. Pietro Bevacqua, were introduced by Miss Barbara Earley, a teacher at 4th St. School. They discussed different ways in which Christmas and New Year's Day are celebrated in their native country and told of the similarities and differences between their customs and those observed in this country.

Carol singing, accompanied by Mrs. James Garrod, and a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Santa, who distributed gifts in an exchange, completed the program.

Mrs. Don Rambacher is program chairman. Mrs. Joseph Wendel, president, conducted the meeting and presented a gift from the club to Mrs. Vesta King, Welcome Wagon hostess.

Mrs. Wendel read several appropriate poems including one written by Mrs. Robert Lau, club secretary. Fifty-four persons answered roll call by telling what they wanted for Christmas.

Decorations were in keeping with the holiday season. Mrs. Sam Brown, Mrs. Nick Klasknick, Mrs. Edwin Pease and Mrs. Jack Porter were in charge. Favors were miniature angels made of net in pastel shades.

Punch was served preceding the dinner by Mrs. Don Clarico and Miss Carol Croft.

Next meeting will be at 8 p. m. Jan. 15 at the Y. The board of directors will meet at 8:30 p. m. Jan. 6 at the home of Mrs. Jack Fischrupp of 1310 Carole Dr.

Next meeting will be Jan. 8 at the home of Mrs. Bailey.

McKinley School Pupils Voices Blend Harmoniously

Scene From Fourth Street School Yule Pageant

Salem school pupils started their Christmas vacation in earnest today following final classes Friday when most schools presented special holiday programs.

How Christmas is observed in nations around the globe was portrayed by costumed student actors at McKinley and Fourth Street schools (note top two photos), while the Prospect School drama (lower photo) depicted Santa searching for the true meaning of Christmas.

Salem school classes will resume Jan. 2.

survivors, some injured, plus some dead. The Argentina freighter Salta was alternately reported to have from 220 to 400 survivors. The British Montcalm said it had 100 survivors and the Argentine liner Rio Grande another 50.

The Salta raced as hard as her engines would pound for Funchal in Madeira. The British consul at Funchal said:

"There is terrible anxiety here. There were several British schoolboys aboard who were coming from England to spend Christmas with their parents who are resident business folk in the Madeira Islands."

Some passengers were newlyweds. Others were retired people seeking a sunshine Christmas holiday.

The adult passengers had been singing, dancing and walking arm and arm on the deck when the fire erupted and forced them to scramble into lifeboats or plunge into the sea.

The passengers left Southampton last Thursday for a cruise to Madeira, Tenerife and the Canary Islands, in the Atlantic off northwest Africa.

Then shortly before midnight came the first ominous wireless message telling of fire aboard. It was followed early this morning by this final anguished message:

"SOS from Lakonia. Last time. I cannot stay any more in the wireless cabin. We are leaving the ship. Please help immediately."

In London, worried relatives and friends flooded the offices of Ormos Shipping Co. Ltd. with phone calls. R. J. Atkins, the company's passenger director, said the liner was "Fully equipped with lifeboats and other equipment and everything was in working order."

The captain, Matio Zarbis, an experienced Greek seaman, was said to have arranged a boat drill for the passengers before the Lakonia left Southampton and there had been others since she sailed.

The passenger list named four Americans: P. Pilcer of Margate, England; Mr. and Mrs. I. Buchanan of Cowling, England, and Miss E. Driscoll of St. Leonard's Enland. Agents said these addresses probably referred to the places where they signed up for the cruise.

The sea was calm when the order came to abandon ship. A few passengers were in their night clothes. But most had been walking the decks or dancing.

Roman Catholic and Church of England clergymen aboard had made arrangements to hold special Christmas services.

A U. S. Air Force C-54 left the Azores carrying 20-man rafts and supplies of food and water. A Royal Air Force plane left Gibraltar at daybreak. First ship on the scene was the 4,990-ton Montcalm. She messaged:

"Lakonia now exploding and fire spreading rapidly to all parts of the ship."

The Lakonia, owned by the General Steamship Co. Ltd. of Greece, was formerly the Dutch liner Johan van Oldenbarnevelt. She was built in Amsterdam in 1930 and was refitted early this year.

The liner's passenger capacity was more than 1,300 persons, with rescue facilities for about 1,400 passengers in 24 lifeboats of different sizes, a line spokesman said.

age but not old enough to be married and have lives of their own. So this does make an impression on them."

Why not end all the speculation with a "Sherman - type" statement? (Gen. Sherman said "If nominated I will not run; if elected I will not serve.")

"America is in a different position now than it was in Sherman's day," Scranton said. "No decent, patriotic American could take that position today."

Queues formed outside the 12 permit offices in snow-covered streets before midnight, more than 13 hours ahead of the 1 p. m. opening hour. After receiving the passes, the West Berliners have to wait a full day before they can cross into East Berlin, to remain only until midnight.

The permits are only available for West Berliners. The Communists don't let the East Berliners travel the other way.

Campbell was taken first to Salem City Hospital but was transferred to Youngstown with a possible skull fracture. He was also treated for cheek and eye injuries and lacerations above the left eye.

A Salem area man reported to police he spotted Campbell, blood streaming down his face, walking in South Alley between Broadway and Ellsworth.

Month's Mourning For JFK Is Ended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thousands of candles burned brightly in the gathering dusk of Washington as the nation ended a month's mourning for John F. Kennedy.

Sheltered against a biting wind on winter's first day, they symbolized that the late President's ideals are still aglow in the world.

Aid Bill

jourment until the bill is approved.

Thus no quick adjournment is in sight for the longest session since the 1950 Korean War Congress. And when it comes it will be little more than a formality, for the 1964 edition of the 88th Congress begins Jan. 7.

The crucial issue in the stalemate over the compromise foreign aid appropriation bill is whether to ban government underwriting of private credit accompanying any shipments to Communist countries.

The House included such a ban, but Johnson protested, the Senate refused to include the ban in the bill, and a Senate-House conference committee eliminated it in drafting a compromise measure.

But in a long session that didn't break up until before dawn Saturday, Republicans caught the Democratic majority with its ranks slashed by absenteeism and succeeded in forcing the measure back to the conference committee, insisting that the credit ban be included.

A further compromise was reached. This one states that the President can approve credit for sales to Communist countries if he found it in "the national interest" and reported each deal to Congress within 30 days.

If the Rules Committee sends the measure to the floor today, the bill will have to lay over for 24 hours—unless two-thirds of the representatives present and voting approve taking it up without the delay.

With the measure tangled in the House, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana sent the senators home. Although he scheduled token meetings for Tuesday and Friday, he promised that no business would be conducted this week.

However, Mansfield and Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said that if the House does act they will attempt to round up a majority to complete final action on the aid measure.

ber going over since the visits began Thursday night.

For nearly all it was their first reunion with relatives since the Communists built the wall in August 1961.

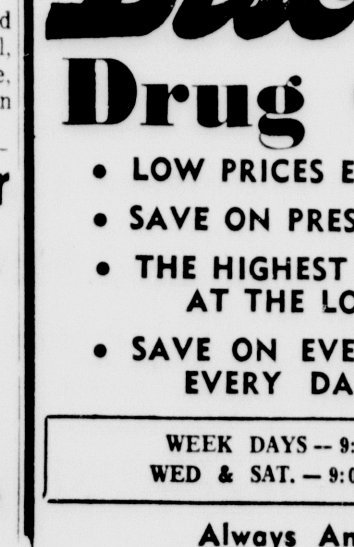

Communist authorities announced they had approved 358,000 applications for visits. About 800,000 West Berliners are eligible.

Queues formed outside the 12 permit offices in snow-covered streets before midnight, more than 13 hours ahead of the 1 p. m. opening hour. After receiving the passes, the West Berliners have to wait a full day before they can cross into East Berlin, to remain only until midnight.

The permits are only available for West Berliners. The Communists don't let the East Berliners travel the other way.

Campbell was taken first to Salem City Hospital but was transferred to Youngstown with a possible skull fracture. He was also treated for cheek and eye injuries and lacerations above the left eye.

A Salem area man reported to police he spotted Campbell, blood streaming down his face, walking in South Alley between Broadway and Ellsworth.

hit from behind by a car operated by Raymond F. Hall, 20, of RD 1, Leetonia.

Milton Adkins, 41, of East Liverpool lost control of his car Saturday at 7:45 p. m. on Alt. Route 14, about three miles east of Salem. Adkins rounded a curve, dropped off the right side of the road went left of center and hit a tree.

Cars operated by Patrick J. Samora, 42, of RD 1, New Waterford, and James A. Dickey, 21, of 109 N. Main St., Columbiana, collided Saturday at 7 p. m. at Middleton. Samora pulled from County Rd. 421 onto Route 7 into the path of Dickey. The New Waterford motorist was cited for failing to yield the right of way.

A Lisbon area youth was cited for failure to stop within the assured clear distance after his car struck one trying to aid a third motorist Saturday at 10:25 a. m. on Township Rd. 750, just north of Route 30.

Elmer W. Ramsey, 23, of RD 1, Lisbon, was cited after his auto hit the rear of another vehicle driven by Wayne D. Strong, 24, of RD 4, Lisbon, as Strong attempted to pull another car out of the ditch.

William Slagle, 17, of RD 1, Negley, was cited to Juvenile Court by the Canfield Patrol after he collided Saturday at 7:15 p. m. in Boardman with a car operated by Norman Beight, 19, of Youngstown. Slagle failed to stop at a red light at the intersection of Route 224 and Glenwood Ave., the Patrol said, and struck the side of Beight's auto.

er emergency personnel to hospitals.

The snow and ice storm which moved across Mississippi dropped temperatures and piled up snow, making some highways and bridges virtually impassable.

Accumulations of up to 12 inches were reported in the northwestern corner of Mississippi.

The highway patrol said all major highways out of Jackson, Miss., were icy and virtually impassable. U.S. 61 from Vicksburg north to Memphis was "almost a solid sheet of ice," the patrol said.

Louisiana also reported freezing rain and hazardous highways.

In the Baton Rouge area, the Mississippi River Bridge, the Atchafalaya River Bridge and all overpasses were temporarily closed while highway crews poured salt and sand over them.

State police closed U.S. 71 to all cars without tire chains from the Arkansas line to Alexandria, La. The Weather Bureau issued a hazardous driving warning for all of Louisiana.

The Alabama State Patrol said driving conditions were extremely hazardous in virtually all parts of the state, forcing the closing of several highways.

Rain which began in the northwest corner of the state moved rapidly across the mountain areas, changing to freezing rain and sleet, and then to snow.

The state patrol closed many roads in northern Georgia.

Air lines reported some flights out of Atlanta headed for the Midwest and south central states were canceled or delayed because of weather conditions.

the hymns Sunday. But she remarked after the minister, the Rev. Myron J. Taylor, that she "enjoyed the reading." Anatoly seemed very interested in the hymns, and all rose and sat down as the congregation did but took no part otherwise.

After another tour of the area, the two families spent Sunday night trimming a Christmas tree in the McKenzie home.

Today's itinerary, which probably will undergo change, like each day scheduled so far, calls for visits to the telephone and power companies, a stove firm and Portsmouth's daily newspaper, The Times.

Pozdnev, who works in quality control at a Moscow compact car plant, will get a look at some 1964 model American cars and may be given a chance to drive one in the municipal stadium parking lot.

It was thought earlier that visa expiration might make it necessary for the Pozdnevs to leave Thursday. But Jaycees say this has been clarified and the family will begin its return flight to Moscow Friday from Cincinnati.

E. Berliners Have Enough Food, Clothing

By AL SIMPSON
Brush-Moore Special Writer
BERLIN (By Airmail) — It would be nice to have some super ray which could dissolve the Berlin Wall as easily as ink eradicator wipes out a signature. It's not at all nice to have to face up to the pregnantly dangerous, practical political enigma the Wall is today.

Al Simpson

Much of the resources of the West — your tax dollars — and of the East are going into stiffening the military spine of both sides. On this tour we have seen how some of the dollars are put to use.

FOR HERE is the great confrontation — along the wall. We were privileged to see much of Berlin in a short time. We toured West Berlin and East Berlin by Air Force bus and flew over the 27 miles of sector border (including 9.3 miles of Wall proper) and 70 miles of zonal border in an Army helicopter.

Flying slightly above rooftop level, we clearly could see the barbed-wire barricades on top of buildings to prevent leaps to freedom, wide swaths of no-man's land cut through the forests and seeded with death dealing land mines, pyramidal look-out towers where armed guards watch and wait, fences down the middle of the rivers to prevent freedom swims and rows of tank barriers, looking from the air like a little girl's playing jacks.

WEST BERLINERS have smeared their side of the Wall with the letters "K" — gruesome in design and red — like blood, signifying concentration camp. From the air it looks precisely that.

On the ground, we visited the memorials where crosses have been erected to those who lost their lives swimming the Spree, River, climbing the Wall or leaping to freedom from windows. We saw the buildings on either side of the freedom tunnel.

Passing through "Checkpoint Charlie", we found we no longer could get close to the Wall. The East Germans face bullets if they come within 200 yards of the Wall. Even the cemeteries are patrolled by border guards with lunging killer dogs. Because we were in uniform and have "rights" in the Russian sector of Berlin, we could move about more freely than our civilian counterparts. Duty-type tours beyond the Wall are made each day to protect these rights.

a geiger counter near an ore-rich uranium vein: the site of the first bookburning in Hitler's day, big piles of 20-year-old rubble left undisturbed from World War II bombings, abandoned churches, Russian soldiers' barracks with semi-concealed tanks, goose-stepping East German troops changing guard in the best Nazi style.

Actually drab East Berlin while a dramatic change from bustling, lively, prospering West Berlin, was not quite as depressing as I had thought it would be.

There were people in the shopping district — more, our Air Force guide said, than he had seen in three years. It was the height of the Christmas season.

THERE WERE women's lingerie in pastel shades in the windows, TV sets for sale, (although they are fixed so they can't bring in West German (with the American packer's name blacked out) and Christmas trees.

Some of the young girls wore beehive hairdos like those seen in the West.

They have more than I personally expected to see, but intelligence reports indicate East Berlin is the showcase of East Germany and conditions are much worse beyond the city.

One elderly East German put it succinctly when he told an American friend:

"We have enough food. It isn't the best. And we have enough clothes. They're not the best. We have everything but — our freedom."

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Climate Won't Cure Disease

According to an old proverb, a change of climate makes a victim more comfortable, it is the other side of the fence. Every year people move to another state because they believe such a move will improve their health. But a change of climate does not cure disease.

Dr. Brandstadt

More often than not they are disappointed. There is no part of the country that is ideal the year around. If there were I doubt that there would be room enough to house all the migrants.

Temperature is not the only factor in making the victim of the diseases mentioned uncomfortable. He must also consider altitude, relative humidity and air pollution. The warm, dry climate so often sought after may also be a very dusty climate and this could aggravate a chronically infected sinus or an asthmatic bronchitis.

NO DISEASE can be cured by climate alone as all of the diseases mentioned can be found in every state. Even when

San Diego Rips Denver 58-20 For Division Title

Chargers Earn Berth In AFL Title Clash

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"It's like going from the out-house to the penthouse." That was the cogent comment of San Diego line coach Joe Madro after the Chargers completed an amazing flip-flop by overwhelming Denver 58-20 Sunday and clinching their third Western Division title in the four-year history of the American Football League.

And much of the credit for the turnaround must go to Paul Lowe, who has lugged a hockey guard wrapped around his fractured leg 1,010 yards this season and triggered the Chargers to their final victory by gaining 284 yards and scoring two touchdowns.

Lowe was out all last season with a broken arm, and the Chargers plummeted to a 4-10 record after winning the Western crown the first two years of the league's operation. Then, against Buffalo, in the Chargers' opener this season, Lowe suffered a hairline fracture of the left leg.

"Nobody ever knew about it but me and Coach Sid Gillman," said Lowe two days ago in revealing the injury for the first time when he was named FL Comeback Player of the Year in an Associated Press poll. "I was determined not to let it keep me out."

So Lowe wrapped a hockey guard around the battered leg, and played. He topped off his performances by piercing the Bronco line for the first Charger touchdown on an 11-yard run, then bolting 66 yards for the clincher in the third period as San Diego brought its record to 11-3.

The Chargers will meet the winner of the Eastern Division playoff between Boston and Buffalo for the AFL championship at San Diego, Jan. 5. The Patriots and Bills, idle Sunday, will settle their battle at Buffalo Saturday afternoon.

The only thing that concerned Gillman was the final game of the regular season with the outcome of the Western race hanging on the outcome. San Diego needed a tie or victory to hold off Oakland, which had closed to within one game of the leaders.

The Raiders wound up one length, finishing a 10-4 season by edging Houston 52-49 for their eighth consecutive victory. In the only other game scheduled, the Kansas City Chiefs crushed New York 48-0.

Denver gave the ball to San Diego six times on fumbles and interceptions, and the Chargers capitalized on each one—the most dramatic a 42-yard run by Chuck Allen with a fumble in the fourth period. San Diego moved ahead to stay 10-7 on a 17-yard field goal by George Blair in the first quarter, but needed Lowe's breakaway run for a 33-17 lead that put it out of the Broncos' reach.

THE JIM THORPE TROPHY

Dayton Registers 7th In Row, Triumphs 86-71

OSU Entertains Houston Tonight After Trouncing Wichita 78-60

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Writer

Most of Ohio's college basketball teams take a Christmas respite this week, but 10 quintets will see action in holiday tournaments.

There's relatively few games on the agenda but the schedule shows some top attractions.

Ohio State's bounce-back Buckeyes have little time to boast about their one-sided 78-60 walloping of Wichita Saturday.

A rangy Houston team, fresh from a triumph over rugged Oklahoma City, visits St. John Arena tonight.

Coach Fred Taylor's squad looked sharp in disposing of the rugged Shockers of the Missouri Valley Conference. The Bucks exploded for 48 points in a second-half display of offensive power to turn a tight contest into a rout.

Big Gary Bradds once again led the attack with 28 points and 16 rebounds. An aggressive Buckeyes defense held the high-scoring Shockers to 27 points in the first half. Ohio had lost two straight.

In other Saturday action, Butler belted Toledo 82-61 to hand the Rockets their second straight reversal after six straight triumphs. The Bulldogs pulled out to a 36-27 halftime edge and were never headed.

Ace Larry Jones, who had been averaging 27 points a game, was limited to 19. The setback is certain to knock the Rockets from their lofty national ranking.

Dayton continued its winning ways by registering No. 7 against Murray State, 86-71.

The Flyers had to overcome a 10-0 deficit to pull out the triumph but did so with some nifty 63 per cent shooting from the field.

Once again, two highly touted sophomores, Henry Burling and Hank Finkel, paced the way. Burling tallied 28 and grabbed 12 rebounds while Finkel contributed 20 points.

In others, Dave Evans provided the winning layup and netted 24 points as Akron nipped Kent State 72-70; veteran Bill Fisher scored 22 as injured-died Wittenberg turned back Susquehanna 68-47; Youngstown (7-0) kept its record clean by pasting Illinois Wesleyan 92-65; Wooster shaded Fredonia State 67-66; Cedarville bowed to host William Penn College 75-68 in the final of the Iowa school's own invitational and Findlay captured its first annual basketball tourney with a 94-85 decision over Bluffton.

Cincinnati (5-1) faces tough Kansas State on the Bearcat's home floor tonight and opens its Missouri Valley Conference slate Saturday at home against Tulsa.

In other Saturday headlines, Ohio State journeys to Utah State and Youngstown risks its unbeaten record against Akron. Strong Xavier and Miami meet in the Queen City Tournament at Buffalo Thursday and Dayton gets a severe test when it battles once-beaten Villanova in the Holiday Festival at New York the same day.

Other tournaments involving Ohio teams include:

Dec. 26-28—Central State at Quincy, Ill., Invitational.

Dec. 27-28—Bluffton at Flint, Mich.; tournament; Kent State at Trenton, N.J., tournament; Ohio Northern at Indianapolis tournament; Steubenville at Spring Arbor, Mich., tournament; Mount Union Invitational which includes Hiram, Wilmington, Baltimore and Mount Union.

BOWLING

By RAY BLUTH
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If ever there was a follow through, Harry Smith has it. He not only brings his arm all the way through, he leaps into the air.

Maybe Harry overdoes it a little bit simply because he is carried away or maybe because he is a great showman, but his form on the follow through is worth careful study.

You may have a perfect approach, pendulum swing and ball release, yet fail to score well because you did not complete the follow through, the arm should come forward until it is at least head high.

The follow through should be a natural continuation of your pendulum swing. Just forget you have relinquished the ball and keep your arm going in the same direction, in the same easy, natural manner that you executed the pendulum swing. Do this and your ball will have proper direction and natural speed.

HARRY SMITH
JUMPING HARRY Smith is noted not only for winning tournaments, but for the tremendous leaps he gives and body English he uses while waiting for the ball to strike the pins. The 33-year-old string bean (5-11, 148) has won more than 30 tournaments and rolled 42 perfect games (37 unsanctioned). He rolled two consecutive 300 games while scoring an 879 series in a 1959 exhibition. Smith, who is 33, was born in Cleveland and started bowling in 1941.

22 Cage Tourneys Attract 112 Colleges For Holiday Season

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The mad, mad, mad, mad world of college basketball reaches its maddest moments this week with 112 teams competing in 22 separate tournaments—at least at last count—and each one of them is supposed to mean something.

Actually, they rarely do. The serious part, conference play, is still two weeks off for a majority of the nation's myriad teams, with this week's annual Christmas holiday tournaments serving as the breaking point of the season.

The madness began last week with a handful of major tourneys. The big one was in Lexington, Ky., where the home folks got downright frantic when Col. Adolph Rupp's host Kentucky lads won their own tourney with a 98-75 conquest of Wake Forest in the final game.

The victory was the seventh in a row for unbeaten Kentucky, ranked second in the nation and obviously angling for the top spot, held by defending national champion Chicago Loyola.

The champs refused to yield ground, however. Loyola, 6-0, maintained its 100-point-a-game average with two victories during the week, 112-68 over South Dakota and 91-47 over Ohio Wesleyan.

Other ranked teams remaining unbeaten included No. 3 Michigan, 6-0; No. 6 UCLA, 6-0; No. 8 Vanderbilt, 7-0, and No. 10 Davidson, 7-0.

Michigan romped over No. 5 Duke 83-67; Butler defeated No. 9 Toledo 82-61; UCLA snapped Creighton's nine-game winning string 95-79; Vanderbilt beat Louisville 91-82 and Davidson romped over East Carolina 105-77 in Saturday games.

Seventh-ranked New York

University wasn't in action Saturday but suffered a midweek upset at the hands of Wagner. No. 4 Cincinnati also was idle Saturday after two victories during the week.

Princeton, unranked but sporting one of the brightest individual stars, took third in the Kentucky tourney, edging Wisconsin 90-87 in overtime. Bill Bradley, a 6-foot-5 junior, poured in 47 points.

Ranked teams in tourney action this week include UCLA vs. Yale and Michigan vs. NYU in the first round of the Los Angeles Classic; Chicago Loyola vs. Georgetown, D.C. in the first round of the Quaker City Classic in Philadelphia, and Vanderbilt vs. Memphis State in the Vanderbilt Invitation at Nashville, Tenn.

Cincinnati is the only ranked team in action tonight, playing host to Kansas State. Saturday games involving the Top Ten include Kentucky vs. Notre Dame at Louisville, and Tulsa at Cincinnati.

The bulk of the interest, however, centers on the vast array of tournaments. Here's a partial line-up, with several more getting underway next week:

Thursday—Holiday Festival at New York, Big Eight at Kansas City, Los Angeles Classic, WCAC at San Francisco; Far West Classic at Portland, Ore.; Queen City at Buffalo and All-College at Oklahoma City.

Friday—Motor City at Detroit, Kodak Classic at Rochester, N.Y.; Quaker City Classic at Philadelphia, Milwaukee Classic, Hurricane Classic at Miami Beach, Vanderbilt Invitation at Nashville, Evansville, Ind.; Holiday, Poinsetta Classic at Greenville, S.C.; Downeast Classic at Bangor, Maine, All-American at Owensboro, Ky., Gulf South Classic at Shreveport, La.; Wagner Invitational at Staten Island, N.Y.; Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., and the Watauga Invitational at Johnson City, Tenn.

Saturday—Sun Carnival at El Paso, Tex.

Weekly TV Boxing Show To Get Ax After 20 Straight Years

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A terse announcement that the American Broadcasting Co., is dropping its weekly television boxing show wipes a 20-year fixture from the nation's TV screens.
"ABC has no plans to continue its boxing show next season," a network spokesman said late Sunday night. "By next season, I mean 1964. I can't say more than that at this time."
The spokesman, who asked that his name not be used, replied in confirmation to a New York Times report that ABC and the Gillette Safety Razor Co. the chief sponsor, had agreed to drop the weekly fight show.

The effects could be far reaching and perhaps fatal.
"At first, a lot of guys are going to go hungry," middleweight champion Joey Giardello said.
"Without television revenue, it wouldn't seem feasible... to continue our weekly boxing shows," Madison Square Garden publicist John F. K. Condon said.
Harry Markson, Garden boxing director, said only:
"We have a contract that runs through September. That's all I know about it."
Strangely, it was on Sept. 26, 1944—almost 20 years to the day before the expiration date of the present contract—that the first contract for a boxing series was signed.

In one form or another, the series has continued — for a while twice weekly—to the present. At this time ABC's Friday night boxing show is the only one regularly carried by the networks.
Waning interest in the sport, lack of enough good fighters, unsavory publicity surrounding some key figures in the sport and the economics of television were listed as the major reasons for dropping the telecasts.
The loss of revenue from television could have far-reaching effects on the sport. Payments from television have been a major source of income for many fighters.
The Times said the weekly fight would be replaced by another sports attraction on the network. It said the change may come in April.

Columbiana Hands United 70-61 Loss

Columbiana High School used its height advantage and overall speed to knock off United 70-61 at Hanoverton Saturday night.
It was the third win in four starts for Coach Rich Berryman's Clippers. Slumping United dropped its third straight after opening the season with three victories in a row.
Coach Jack Mills' aggregation fell behind 19-9 in the initial period, trailed 38-23 at intermission and 56-43 at the end of the third session.
THE CLIPPERS shot 44 per cent from the field, canning 31 of 70 field goal attempts. Columbiana made 13 of 20 free throws for 65 per cent.
The Golden Eagles made 16 of 23 from the charity circle for a tremendous 70 per cent. United

Australia To Start Emerson, Fraser In Davis Cup Tourney

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Australia has decided to stick with experience and throw its two biggest tennis guns, Roy Emerson and Neale Fraser, against the United States in the Davis Cup Challenge Round starting Thursday.
This means both sides will gamble on two-man teams holding up in Adelaide's sweltering 100-degree heat through both singles and doubles over the three-day test. The Americans plan to bank on Wimbledon champion Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston.
Harry Hopman, Australia's long time captain, left little doubt that Fraser was his No. 2

A word from THERON at the Country Store

We will be open Christmas Eve, but closed all day Christmas day. Be sure you have plenty of house fuses, flash bulbs, film and batteries for the Christmas toys. Also, those little items for your Christmas dinner like whipping cream, and milk for the baby.

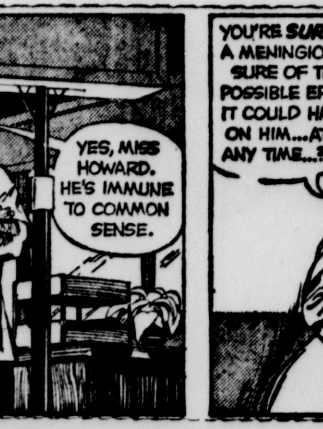

Every year we have a lot of people call or come out thinking we will be here. Please don't call or come out on Christmas, be sure you have everything on hand you will need.
